

Design meets titanium...

As a master goldsmith, Uli Glaser initially followed in the footsteps of a four-generation family tradition. His studies at the University of Industrial Arts in Helsinki bolstered his creative potential and was a source of inspiration for innovative product development. In November of 1988, the designer founded his one-man company, Uli Glaser Design. His countless jewellery designs are realised in his Hamburg studio's integrated workshop.

Marketing and cooperation agreements with jeweller partners have been continuously expanded since 1992. The innovative TITANIUM-pure jewellery collection has been a force in Europe, the US and Japan since 1993, and has now entered the Spanish market as well.

To this day, the designer has remained true to his production site in Hamburg and his "Made in Germany" quality claim.

First choice in titanium

TITANIUM is a material of superlatives, which is attested to by its 100% purity, hardness and optimum wearability in terms of its hypo-allergenic properties.

Traditional goldsmith techniques combined with highly developed CNC programmes, also fulfil the highest quality requirements for intriguing customer requests.

The combination of TITANIUM with platinum and 18-carat gold as well as the finest quality hand-set, brilliant-cut diamonds has created completely new dimensions.

As specialists, we are also naturally in the position to make size adjustments to your jewellery and wedding rings as part of our professional After-Sales Service.

TITANIUM-pure

The idea to develop a collection that could be launched on the market as a high-quality alternative to traditional jewellery came about in 1992. The purest titanium combined with gold and platinum was the answer.

By fusing together modern design forms and traditional setting techniques, the wedding rings together with top-quality, brilliant-cut diamonds have quickly become classics. The elegant accessories in a cool look perfectly complement your personal jewellery set.

Uli Glaser offers an extensive collection of earrings, bracelets and necklaces made of this both elegant and technically high-quality material. Following this concept, the designer has become one of the most popular and internationally renowned creative artists for exclusive titanium jewellery.

TITANIUM-pure...
